COLORADO REPORTS ON ECONOMIC IMPACT OF ACA MEDICAID EXPANSION

This week, our In Focus section reviews a report out of Colorado that describes the economic impact of the state’s Medicaid expansion under the Affordable Care Act (the “Colorado Report”). Commissioned by the Colorado Health Foundation and prepared by the Colorado Futures Center at Colorado State University, “Assessing the Economic and Budgetary Impact of Medicaid Expansion in Colorado: FY 2015-16 through FY 2034-35,” provides estimated impacts from the ACA Medicaid expansion through fiscal year (FY) 2034-35 on jobs, the state’s economy, household earnings, and the state budget. Overall, the Colorado Report shows a positive impact on Colorado’s economy as a result of expanding Medicaid.

Colorado’s Medicaid Expansion in Context

Colorado’s Department of Health Care Policy and Financing (HCPF) estimates that the ACA Medicaid expansion will cover approximately 400,000 additional Coloradans in FY 2017-18. In federal fiscal year (FFY) 2015, Colorado’s total net spending for Medicaid surpassed $7.3 billion, with just under $1.37 billion attributable to the ACA expansion population.¹

As the federal share of funding for the newly eligible ACA expansion population decreases from 100 percent (in 2014-2016) to 90 percent (in 2020), Colorado will fully fund the state’s funding share from the state’s Hospital Provider Fee (HPF), as directed by SB 13-200. As a result, the ACA Medicaid expansion will have no impact on the state’s general fund going forward.

Colorado State Gross Domestic Product (GDP) Impact

The Colorado Report estimates that the state’s economy, as measured by state GDP, is $3.82 billion larger in FY 2015-2016 as a result of the ACA Medicaid expansion. This equates to a 1.14 percent increase in state GDP. Based on FFY 2015 expenditures, this means that the economic impact of the expansion ($3.82 billion state GDP) was more than two-and-a-half times the actual Medicaid expenditures for expansion beneficiaries ($1.37 billion).

This state GDP impact is projected to steadily increase over the next two decades. By FY 2034-35, the nominal increase in state GDP due to the expansion is projected to reach $8.53 billion, or a 1.38 percent increase in state GDP.

Colorado Employment Impact

The Colorado Report estimates that the state’s economy supports more than 31,000 additional jobs in FY 2015-2016 due to the ACA Medicaid expansion. As of January 2016, the Colorado Department of Labor and Employment reported a total of 2,583,800 nonfarm payroll jobs² in the state. Based on this figure, the ACA Medicaid expansion increased employment by a little over 1 percent.

By FY 2034-35, the expansion is projected to add a cumulative total of more than 43,000 jobs, equal to a 1.35 percent increase in total employment.

Colorado Average Household Earnings Impact

The Colorado Report estimates that average annual household earnings in Colorado are $643 higher in FY 2015-2016 “due to the stimulative effect” of the ACA Medicaid expansion. This equates to around a 1 percent increase based on median household income of $59,448 in 2014.³

By FY 2034-35, average annual household earnings are projected to be $1,033 higher due to the ACA Medicaid expansion.

Colorado General Fund Revenue Impact

The Colorado Report finds that the overall economic impact of the Medicaid expansion will result in increased general fund revenue from greater income, sales, and use taxes. As stated above, there will be no general fund expenditures for the ACA Medicaid expansion when full federal funding expires.

For FY 2015-2016, Colorado’s general fund is estimated to be $102.4 million higher due to the ACA Medicaid expansion’s impact. This figure is projected to grow to $248.3 million by FY 2034-35.

Medicaid Funding Disputes Could Cause Special Session If House Passes Senate-Approved Budget. On March 10, 2016, Montgomery Advertiser reported that Governor Bentley and legislators are discussing the possibility of a special session to address funding for the state’s Medicaid program. The Senate approved General Fund budget going to the House next week would include a $15 million increase for Medicaid over last year, however the agency has stated that it needs $100 million to maintain services and continue implementing the shift to their managed care model. Governor Bentley is hopeful that the Senate version of the budget will not pass the House as he stated that he would veto a budget without $100 million for Medicaid. Although the legislature has historically prioritized Medicaid funding, recently Republicans suggested that the program is taking resources from other agencies, and legislators have implied they are willing to pass a budget with less than the $100 million the Medicaid agency is asking for. If the Senate version passes, a special session to resolve Medicaid budget issues could be necessary. Read More

AHCCCS Releases New Hospital Payment Data. The Arizona Health Care Cost Containment System (AHCCCS) released updated individual hospital AHCCCS payments for the twelve months ending September 30, 2012 through 2014. The inpatient and outpatient payments — excluding supplemental payments — trended as follows:

- 2011 - $2,398,000,000
- 2012 - $1,866,000,000
- 2013 - $1,743,000,000
- 2014 - $2,064,000,000

The increase in 2014 over 2013 reflects the partial impact of the restoration of the Prop. 204 program and the adult expansion to 133 percent of the federal poverty level, which went into effect on January 1, 2014. The decrease from 2011 to 2012 reflects the partial impact of the May 1, 2011 freeze on enrollment in the medical spend down program and freeze on new enrollment in the childless adult program. Read More

Inland Empire Faces Physician Shortage. On March 14, 2016, The Sun reported that according to studies done by the California Health Care Foundation, Inland Empire’s (San Bernardino-Riverside region’s) supply of physicians is far below state levels, at 120 per 100,000 residents. Meanwhile, the statewide average is 194 per 100,000. The shortage is expected to worsen as physicians retire at a faster rate than those replacing them. To tackle the shortage of residency positions in the region, the federal government will fund 32 resident positions out of the $68 million Loma Linda University Health — San Bernardino. Meanwhile, Inland Empire Health Plan agreed to partially subsidize the salaries of new doctors coming into the area willing to take Medi-Cal and Medicare patients from the plan. Read More

Lawmakers May Cut Medicaid Reimbursements to Primary Care Doctors by 23 Percent. On March 14, 2016, Colorado Public Radio reported that lawmakers are considering slashing budgets to offset the $191 million taxpayer reimbursement next year (under the voter-approved TABOR limit on state taxes) and address a $373 million budget gap. This may include a 23 percent, or $49 million, cut to Medicaid rates to primary care doctors. Rural clinics and hospitals are also preparing for cuts. In rural counties, between 30 and 70 percent of residents are enrolled in Medicaid, so providers are preparing for a large hit. Read More

Balance Billing (HB 221). Provides protections for insured consumers from unfair surprise medical bills. The bill also mandates insurance coverage of therapies and applied behavior analysis services for individuals with Down syndrome.

Medicaid Dental Care (HB 819). Requires a comprehensive study of Medicaid managed care dental services by December 1, 2016; authorizes the Legislature to use the report’s findings to determine the structure of dental services; if the Legislature doesn’t act by July 1, 2017, the Agency is required to contract with at least two licensed dental managed care providers through a competitive procurement process to provide dental benefits to both children and adults beginning March 1, 2019. Long-term Managed Care Prioritization (HB 1335). Establishes a process to prioritize individuals for enrollment in the Medicaid LTC Program. (The bill was presented to the Governor on 03/11/16 and he has until 03/26/16 to act on this bill)
- Health-Cost Transparency (HB 1175). Requires the Agency for Health Care Administration to contract with a vendor by October 1, 2016 for a website that will show cost and quality of health care in the state.

- Mental Health and Substance Abuse (SB 12). Creates a “no wrong door” policy for people seeking help for mental illness or substance abuse or both by having local entities coordinate rather than operating as a “fragmented” system. The bill also directs the Agency for Health Care Administration and the Department of Children and Families to develop a plan to increase federal Medicaid funding for behavioral health care.

- Multi-State Nurse Licenses (HB 1061). Allows Florida to enter into a “nurse licensure compact” with more than two dozen other states that allows nurses to receive multi-state licenses to practice in any of the states that are part of the compact. (The bill was presented to the Governor on 03/11/16 and he has until 03/26/16 to act on this bill)

Drug Overdose Deaths Rise 31 Percent in 2015. On March 7, 2016, Portland Press Herald reported that drug overdose deaths rose 31 percent to 272 in 2015. Of the 272 deaths, 107 deaths were from heroin and a total of 157 deaths were from heroin, fentanyl, acetyl fentanyl, or some combination. In 2014, 57 people... died from heroin overdoses. According to data released Monday by the Maine Department of Health and Human Services, about 15,500 state residents received opioid addiction treatment in 2015. However, experts say treatment options are sparse and were further decreased when two treatment centers, Mercy Recovery Center in Westbrook and Spectrum Health Systems in Sanford, closed. Maine’s low reimbursement rates and the defeat of the ACA Medicaid expansion have made it financially difficult for treatment centers to offer broad access to patients. Read More

Governor Cuomo’s Wage Hike Can Prove Difficult for Health Care Providers. On March 15, 2016, Politico reported that with Governor Cuomo’s minimum wage hike to $15 per hour, health care providers are finding it increasingly difficult to find staff when retail stores and fast food restaurants are offering higher hourly wages. Raising wages is an arduous task for providers that rely primarily on state funding. Those who care for the aged, sick, and disabled must provide for medical, hygienic, and emotional needs of patients. Given the choice between this type of work and other, less demanding work that pays better, workers often choose the latter. As a result, vacancy rates are at an all-time high and rising. Read More

Budget Negotiations. The New York State legislature introduced budget bills this week. These one-house bills stake out each chamber’s priorities, and form the basis for negotiations with the Governor. Budget conference committees have also begun. The budget must be approved by the end of March for the new fiscal year beginning April 1.
Both houses of the legislature propose increasing capital funding for health care providers, including hospitals. The Governor’s budget included $195 million in capital funding for hospitals to facilitate health system restructuring. The Assembly included $200 million for health facilities plus $25 million for community-based organizations; the Senate included $200 million in total, with 25 percent reserved for community groups.

Both houses reject the Governor’s proposal to extend the Medicaid global cap through 2017-18 and continue the Health Commissioner’s so-called superpowers, which grant the Commissioner the authority to make unilateral decisions about funding cuts should spending exceed the global cap.

Both houses reject the Governor’s proposal to remove transportation costs from Medicaid managed long term care premiums and institute a State broker.

The Senate’s budget keeps Cuomo’s proposal to shift the growth of New York City’s Medicaid program back to the city government, which will have a $180 million impact in the coming fiscal year and will increase in future years. The Assembly rejects this proposal.

Both houses reject nearly all of the proposed Medicaid pharmacy cuts.

Both houses would continue the carve-out of Medicaid managed care for school-based health centers (SBHCs) through July 1, 2017. They would make the carve-out permanent for behavioral health and reproductive services provided by SBHCs.

The Assembly would extend eligibility for the Essential Plan, New York’s Basic Health Program, to immigrants known as PRUCOLS (permanent residents under color of law). The plan would offer state subsidized health insurance to more than 5,000 immigrants who have legal status under President Barack Obama’s Deferred Action for Childhood Arrivals program (DACA).

The Senate proposes 10 pilot projects that would allow private equity investment in hospitals. Private-equity investment in hospitals was left out the Governor’s executive budget despite being included in his spending plans each of the previous three years. The Senate also creates a study of public-private partnerships for public hospitals.

Governor Cuomo has proposed an increase in the minimum wage, gradually increasing it to $15 per hour. The Assembly supports an increase in the minimum wage, and has included a $200 million reserve fund to help health care providers afford the increase.

Following the collapse of Health Republic Insurance of New York, hospitals and other health care providers had requested that the state create a guarantee fund that would levy a one-time assessment on health insurers. Neither the Assembly nor the Senate created such a fund, although the Senate has indicated that it would require the Governor to identify funds to reimburse providers for losses associated with the demise of Health Republic.

Declines in Medicaid Enrollment. Enrollment in New York State’s Medicaid program, which has been increasing since the implementation of the Affordable Care Act, has declined in recent months. Enrollment peaked in November 2015 at 6,343,388. As of January, total enrollment had dropped by over 136,000. The decreases are limited to New York City, and to individuals enrolled in Medicaid managed care plans. Plans report a loss of as much as 5 percent. A report in Crain’s HealthPulse speculates that changes in the renewal process may be contributing to the decline. Renewals used to be conducted by the local social service districts, but with the establishment of the New York State of Health exchange, renewals are now being processed centrally, and must be done by telephone or on-line. Medicaid churn had been a significant problem in New York State, and the expectation was that automating the renewal process would contribute to reductions in churning.

EmblemHealth Rating Declines. In a recent press release, A.M. Best reported that it has placed under review with negative implications the financial strength ratings of B+ (Good) and the issuer credit ratings of “bbb-” of several EmblemHealth subsidiaries, including Health Insurance Plan of Greater New York (HIP), HIP Insurance Company of New York, and Group Health Incorporated (GHI). The under review status reflects a material decline in capital at HIP at year-end 2015, which was attributable to continued underwriting losses and an unrealized capital loss. These two items drove the level of absolute capital to decline by slightly more than 25 percent from year-end 2014. The ratings will remain under review while A.M. Best has further discussions with the company’s management team related to the 2015 losses, capital plan and forecasts for 2016.

Kaleida Health Announces New Partnerships. Kaleida Health is expanding, as Lake Shore Health Care Center and Brooks Memorial Hospital have announced their intention to affiliate with Kaleida Health. Brooks Memorial Hospital will terminate its affiliation agreement with UPMC Hamot in Erie, Pennsylvania and enter into a partnership with Kaleida Health. TLC Health Network, the parent of Lake Shore Health Care Center, is negotiating an affiliation with Kaleida Health as well. In order to help reposition the hospitals, Brooks Memorial and TLC Health Network have secured $57 million through New York State’s Essential Healthcare Provider Support Program. This program is designed to help financially distressed New York State healthcare entities with debt retirement, capital projects, turnaround, and transformation initiatives. Brooks Memorial Hospital and TLC Health Network have been hit particularly hard with declining and aging populations, a changing payor mix, difficulty in recruiting physicians, aging facilities and significant capital challenges. Because of these challenges, they have suffered financial losses over the past five years with admission and surgical discharges declining each year as well. The two Southern Tier hospitals and Kaleida Health will now work together to develop a full vision, plan and strategy for the Southern Tier. See more here.

DHS Secretary Gives Budget Update, Highlights Accomplishments and Room for Improvement. Department of Human Services (DHS) Secretary Ted Dallas held a briefing on March 10th to discuss the current DHS budget situation. Secretary Dallas stated the overall DHS budget is $36 billion, with $12 billion coming from state funds and is around 40 percent of the entire state budget. He added that his budget included increases of $980 million with $820 million attributable to factors beyond the Department's control such as the growing senior citizen population and changing demographics. Changes at the federal level, including the payment adjustment for Medicaid, have also affected the DHS budget costing it more money. He estimated that the Senate budget for FY 2015-16 relied on $250 million in one-time revenues that would not be available in FY 2016-17. Also, approximately $160 million in budget increases will fund initiatives designed to help control the cost of providing services and to make investments now that will lower costs in the future. Secretary Dallas remarked that after taking out the $160 million in new initiatives and the $250 million in one-time revenues from last year, what’s left of the DHS budget increase is around $580 million, a 4.5 percent growth rate which is lower than the expected annual growth in health care costs of 6.6 percent. The Department distributed a DHS By the Numbers sheet with some of the more global numbers for the Department. Read More

DHHS Provision to Limit Providers Offering Rehabilitative Behavioral Health Services. On March 9, 2016, The Post and Courier reported that after overspending $60 million last fiscal year on behavioral health services for low-income patients, the Department of Health and Human Services will limit which providers can offer Rehabilitative Behavioral Services. After April 1, only three types of providers will be able to offer the services: a qualified, licensed practitioner of the healing arts; a provider pursuing an independent license during a documented supervised period of clinical practice; or an employee of a governmental agency acting within an exemption under the applicable South Carolina practice act. The excessive costs from last fiscal year were a result of fraudulent claims filed by Medicaid providers. Claims included billing for eight hours of therapy when patients were seen for only one hour, failing to indicate why patients qualified for treatment, and billing for services that were not provided at all. Senate budget proposal would not move Medicaid program from Managed Care to Fee-For-Service. The new Senate Budget proposal would reform rate setting for the Categorically Needy Blind Disabled and Community Options Program Entry System (COPES) Medicaid program instead of moving it from managed care to fee-for-service. This change would reduce anticipated savings from $25.5 million to $12.8 million through 2017. Read More

States Continue To Work To Restrict Prescriptions of Opioids Due To Rising Death Tolls. On March 11, 2016, The New York Times reported that states are increasingly working to limit opioid prescriptions due to rising death tolls. There are currently about 375 proposals in state legislatures that would regulate several aspects of prescribing painkillers, and every state aside from Missouri now has a prescription monitoring program to stop pill mills. Last week, Massachusetts lawmakers passed a bill that would restrict the number of opioids that a doctor can prescribe after surgery or injury to a seven-day supply. Lawmakers in Vermont and Maine are also considering restrictions, and state governors across the country will meet this summer to develop a broad approach to reduce the use of painkillers. Read More

ACA Co-ops Saw Deep Financial Losses in 2015, But Some Of Those Remaining Hope for Profit in 2016. On March 11, 2016, The New York Times reported that ACA co-ops suffered significant losses last year and that 2016 will be a critical year for the 11 that are still standing. While these nonprofit alternatives to traditional insurers were meant to boost competition, many struggled to build a customer base and to remain financially stable with high start-up costs, causing 12 to shut down in 2015. However, some note that enrollment is growing better than expected and the co-ops are learning more about their patient population, which seems to be getting younger and healthier. Maryland’s Evergreen Health Cooperative did the best of the remaining co-ops in 2015, with losses of $10.8 million, compared to a $90.8 million for one Illinois co-op. Evergreen is expected to turn a profit in 2016. Read More

HHS Awarded $94 Million To Health Centers To Help Tackle Prescription Drug Abuse. CQ Roll Call reported that the Health and Human Services Department announced that it will award $94 million to health centers to battle the prescription drug abuse and heroin epidemic. The funding will be administered by the Health Resources and Services Administration and will be provided to 271 health centers nationwide. The money is meant to improve access to medication-assisted treatment, provide training and educational materials for doctors making prescribing decisions, and allow for an increased number of patients to be screened and tested.

CDC Releases New Guidelines on Prescribing Opioid Drugs. On March 15, 2016, The New York Times reported that the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention released new guidelines aimed at reshaping how doctors prescribe painkillers. In 2014, there were 19,000 deaths linked to opioid drugs. The new recommendations will urge doctors to suggest physical therapy, exercise, and over-the-counter pain medication before prescribing painkillers, like OxyContin and Vicodin, for chronic pain. If prescribing opioids, doctors are urged to give the lowest effective dose possible. For short-term pain, CDC recommends limiting opioids to three days of treatment. Doctors are not required to follow these recommendations. Read More
