

ACCREDITATION IS INCREASINGLY REQUIRED.

Beyond that, it can strengthen your organization's value proposition

What is the business case for accreditation beyond its requirement?

What other types of organizations can be accredited? (Hint: there are at least nine.)

How do accrediting organizations differ? How do you choose the one that best meets your business needs?

How do HEDIS and CAHPS fit into accreditation?

How do you leverage accreditation to improve operational challenges?

When do you begin to prepare for accreditation?

How do you keep up with the changes in standards?

What do you need to recover if accreditation is at risk of not passing?

NCQA, URAC, AAAHC, JOINT COMMISSION

We Can Help You Navigate Accreditation

quality@healthmanagement.com

WE CAN HELP YOU BY:

- » Reviewing your quality and population operations with an eye to accreditation, including full-strategy development
- » Assessing the appropriate accreditation to pursue
- » Creating a survey-ready model tailored to your organization's needs, including training and upskilling
- » Developing a HEDIS and CAHPS roadmap, analyzing results and improving scores
- » Assisting with a full creation of initial survey documents or resurveys, as well as performing mock file reviews
- » Addressing denied accreditation and developing a corrective action plan
- » And so much more

ABOUT HMA

HMA is a leading independent research and consulting firm with more than 500 consultants with expertise across all domains of publicly funded healthcare and human services. HMA has distinguished itself from other consulting companies with our decades-long tradition of hiring senior-level policymakers, healthcare system leaders, and other experts with hands-on experience.

LAST UPDATED: 10-6-22

© 2022 Health Management Associates, Inc. All Rights Reserved.

Margaret Williams, BS, RN, CHCQM

Principal
mwilliams@healthmanagement.com

Mary Walter

Managing Director, Quality and Accreditation
mwalter@healthmanagement.com

Bob Krutzler, MD

Principal
bkrutzler@healthmanagement.com